THE PITTENDRIGH INQUEST

Indian Lucy Relates Her Version of the Cruel Murder of Young Pittendrigh.

Mary Confessed to Her That She Shot Him in Self-Denfense Inside Her Tent.

Another Section of the Penitentiary Retaining Wall Collapses—Boring for Coal.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 5.—The Pittendrigh inquest proceeded yesterday afternoon. The most important evidence given was that of Lucy, and was as follows:—She said that at present she was living on Front street in a cabin behind the second trestle bridge. On Thursday had been out washing; returned about 4 o'clock to the cabin by way of Front street. Passing two tents there she noticed that there was nobody in them. A few yards away she met Mary's child, by itself. Witness took the child to her (witness') house. About 6 o'clock Mary came into witness' house. Lucy asked her where she had been. She did not reply for a little while. Mary had her brother with her. His name is Alexander. Mary told witness that a white man had taken hold of her hand, held it up in her tent and tried to pull her out. She got a pistol, which she had, when the man said that if she did not go he would cut her with a knife. Mary said to the man, "If you cut me I will shoot you." Mary then stated that she shot the man. Witness, her husband, Mary and Alexander were in the house when she told this story. Peter, Mary's husband, came in and was going to thrash Mary for shooting the man. Mary was frightened and went outside, Alexander immediately following her. The inquest then adjourned a week.

The Rugby team to play the Victorians on Thursday will charter a special steamer. The team is not yet selected. Owing to the inclement weather this week there has been no practice.

Another portion of the stone retaining wall in front of the penitentiary has collapsed. This makes two downfalls this week, three altogether.

The South Westminster Coal Co. have now bored 70 feet with their new drill, but indications of coal are still very poor.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

Another Disciple of the Idea Studying at Vancouver—A Probable Murder.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5.—The naval relays for the Daphne, Nymphe and Hyacinthe will arrive on Monday morning.

The St. Andrew's society last night elected P. T. Dunn president, and J. B. Smith secretary for the year.

George R. Parkin, the imperial federationist, arrived yesterday and will study the progress and resources of Canada, as material for a work on imperial federation, before returning to England. He has expressed the idea that Canadians are slow in taking advantage of opportunities to trade with Great Britain. Defences, food supplies, coaling capabilities and facilities for transport of troops will be the chief object of his inquiries. He will lecture here on Thursday night.

The Orangemen will celebrate Guy Fawkes' day by a concert next Monday night.

C. Kolling declares that a line of steamers like the Empresses would draw 90 per cent. of the passenger traffic between Australia and America.

The Italian stabbed on Thursday night cannot recover, but may live a week.

The sale of Redondo Island iron limit will be closed on Tuesday with Portland people, who will develop it at once.

A sailor on the tug Port Discovery of Port Townsend was washed overboard last night and drowned.

A scow belonging to F. M. Yorke, and one belonging to Stevens & Soule, with hoisting engines, foundered in the wind storm last night. A good deal of smaller damage was done.

Punished for Libel.

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 5.—R. C. and Geo. W. Brown, editors and publishers of the Arizona Enterprise, were arraigned in the district court yesterday for contempt. Judge Stern sentenced Geo. W. Brown to pay a fine of $500 and be imprisoned sixty days in the county jail. R. C. Brown was sentenced to forty days' imprisonment and $500. Both were committed. George W. Brown is a member and agent of Arizona Central Guard, and a prominent politician. R. C. Brown is a member of the World's Fair commission and an ex-member of the legislature. The trouble dates back to the caustic criticism of Brewster Cameron as clerk of the court. The grand jury indicted the editors for libel. They "roasted" the grand jury, the clerk and the court. Cameron is a nephew of the late Senator Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania, and a cousin of the Blaines.

The Cleveland Family.

LAKEWOOD, N J., Nov. 5. — Mrs. Grover Cleveland, wife of ex-President Cleveland, is again to become a resident of this place. The Cleveland cottage is to be put in condition for early occupancy, and Mrs. Cleveland, accompanied by baby Ruth, will take possession of it, it is said, early next week. The ex-President will remain in New York until after the election, where he will remain in the family house. It is expected that they will winter here.

Fight on a Train.

ATAMORE, I.T., Nov. 5.—Four negro passengers on a Santa Fe passenger train this morning provoked a quarrel with two U.S. deputy marshals who were passengers on the train. Pistols were drawn. As a result a deputy marshal and one negro, name unknown, were shot dead. All concerned in the affair were arrested when the train reached here. The shooting created excitement among the other passengers.

COMOX CURRENCY.

The Newspaper.—The School Question.—Indian Robber Shot.

COMOX, Nov. 4.—Steamer Joan will run from Comox to Valdez Island every two weeks, commencing on 17th inst.

The new Comox paper, the Weekly News, was to have been issued on Thursday, but the non-arrival of ink delayed the initial issue.

Great excitement prevails in Comox over school matters. J. N. Muir, the present teacher, was told on Thursday that his services were no longer required, and within a few hours the trustees' better judgment prevailed and he was reinstated.

A. L. Galerno, a rancher at Campbell River, who is employed by King & Casey during the logging season, was surpised on his return from Victoria to see Indians leaving his house with his effects. He drew a bead on one of them, and thinks he hit him, as there is said to be an Indian in the Euclataw reservation who has been shot in the arm. Mr. Pidcock, Government Agent at Quatheacki, is endeavoring to find out who the miscreants were. Galerno lost everything, including his blankets. The Government should appoint a white constable to keep the peace at Euclataw reserve, Quatiaska Cove and Campbell River.

Mr. Robert Hall, the well-known merchant at the Cove, expects soon to be appointed postmaster.

Mr. J. W. and Miss Tolmie and Mrs. Going and and daughter, of Victoria, visited Comox during the week and were driven through the district by Mr. W. Robb. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with the fine agricultural appearance of the settlement.

GOVERNMENT CONDEMNED.

The People of Comox Endorse the Action of the Trustees in Engaging J. N. Muir.

The Trustees Re-Elected by Acclamation—Supt. Pope Severely Censured.

Mr. Muir Believed to be a First-Class Teacher of Unimpeachable Character.

At a largely attended meeting of the ratepayers of the South Comox school district on Monday last, Mr. Hawkins was appointed chairman and Mr. Baird secretary of the meeting. After the chairman had read the resignation of the trustees, they were asked why they had resigned. They replied that in July last they had advertised for a strict disciplinarian for their school, which was much needed. They had first selected a Mr. Miller, who replied that he had got a better situation. They then selected Mr. J. N. Muir, and had applied for a temporary certificate in compliance with the School Act, as there was no other suitable applicant. In the meantime they allowed Mr. Muir the use of the school building in which to teach the children of the district. The department had not only refused to grant the temporary, but had kept urging them to close the school against Mr. Muir. This they had refused to do, and had therefore resigned. On motion the resignation of the trustees was accepted.

The correspondence between the trustees and the education department was then asked for and read. It was very voluminous and showed that the Government were determined not to grant a temporary, and that the trustees were determined to stand up for the rights of the district. In some instances the replies of the trustees to the Government elicited applause. The statement in one of Dr. Pope's letters that the trustees were not the sole judges of a suitable teacher for their school was greeted with derision.

After the correspondence had been read, it was moved, "that the action of the school trustees in selecting a teacher without a certificate contrary to the wishes of the Government be condemned." The mover stated that he had nothing against Mr. Muir, and believed he was a first class teacher, but that it was unfortunate that South Comox should be dragged into opposing the Government for the sake of Mr. Muir, who was making use of them for his personal advantage in his fight against the Government to get his certificate, and that he was taking the bread and butter out of the mouths of those who had certificates. They all knew in the past what a disadvantage it had been to Comox to be "bucking against the Government." Now they had a Government member to represent them, and they all saw the great benefits and advantages it had been to them.

The seconder stated that he too had nothing against Mr. Muir; on the contrary, he had done more for his children than any other teacher that had been here, and he hoped he would stay for ten years. He thought the trustees should not oppose the Government.

One speaker said that the mover of the resolution had no children and had not attended any previous meeting, and that it was quite clear he was merely trying to curry favor with the Government. He (the speaker) it was well known was a strong supporter of the Government, and although he had everything to lose and nothing to gain, yet he had stood up for the rights of the district. He denied that they were backing up Mr. Muir in a quarrel with the Government; they were merely trying to get the best teacher possible for the school. He was pained and surprised that anyone should sell the educational advantages of the district for a little political capital. He thought the Government were anxious to favor their friends, as the name of Mr. Halliday had been suggested for the school. He then turned on the seconder and said he could not too strongly condemn a man who for politics would barter the educational advantages of his own children.

Several speakers then commended the action of the trustees in taking the stand they had for the cause of education in the district. They could not understand why the Government should now refuse a temporary, as it had in the past been quite ready to grant them. It was quite clear that only last year it had done so with little credit to the superintendent as the candidate had failed to pass the examination in July. It was also stated that on a former occasion the only ground on which Dr. Pope stated that he would issue a temporary was that the trustees should state that they wanted a female, and although a certificated female had also applied, the temporary was granted in favor of a female recommended by Dr. Pope. They all spoke highly of the success and progress of the pupils under Mr. Muir's care. Only the mover and seconder voted for the resolution.

The chairman then stated that he supposed the result of the vote was an indication that the meeting was well pleased with the conduct of the late trustees, to which the meeting assented. However, the following resolution was introduced with a neat and appropriate speech, that "the school trustees in selecting Mr. J. Muir as the teacher of the South Comox school had complied with the wishes of the people and that the superintendent of public instruction be condemned for refusing to grant a temporary certificate."

The seconder of the resolution said that he thought it very strange that the Government should try to prevent Mr. Muir from earning his living, and that they should year after year refuse to grant him a certificate without giving any reason for their refusal. He therefore would support the motion to condemn the Government for refusing a temporary at the request of our school trustees, and would endorse the action of the trustees in selecting Mr. Muir as teacher. The motion was carried.

It was then moved and carried unanimously that the former school trustees be re-elected. After passing a vote of thanks to the chairman the meeting closed.

The trustees have got a letter by this mail from Minister Baker again urging them to close the school against Mr. Muir.

NANAIMO NOTES.

Painful Accident to a Machinist — The French Syndicate.

NANAIMO, Nov. 5.—Robert Scott, jr., employed in the New V. C. Co.'s machine shops, met with an accident while employed at the lathe yesterday and had two of his fingers amputated. The shock of the accident caused the young man to faint, and but for the timely assistance of R. Craig, who was fortunately there at the moment, he would have fallen among the machinery. Drs. McLeod and Callahan attended to his injuries.

Everything has been settled between Mr. Simon Leiser and the French syndicate in a satisfactory manner The syndicate has agreed to pay the greater part of S. Leiser's claim before Nov. 15th, when a meeting of creditors will be held.

J. Freer, who was injured in the East Wellington mines on Tuesday, lies in a critical condition. The doctors state that a blood vessel near the spine has broken and that it is liable to prove fatal.

Mayor Haslam, who recently purchased the electric works through A. Morrison of New Westminster, will continue to run them this month, after that it is expected that they will be taken over by other people.

UNION NEWS.

Appropriations Squandered—Visitor From Japan—Earthquake Peculiarities.

UNION, Nov. 4.—Your correspondent on former occasions drew attention to the peculiar methods the Government has in making and repairing roads in this district. Some people were incensed at the criticism, but since the wet weather has set in the condition of the road between Union and Comox justifies anything your correspondent has said. It is simply impassable. The miserable stuff that has been put on for gravel is worse than nothing and the wagons cut through it to the hubs. It is a general drawback to the Union sawmill, as they have to put on an extra team to haul lumber to Comox. A well known road contractor says that $16,000 was appropriated for Comox this year, and that he could do all the road building and repairing for $5000, and make money out of it. It would be interesting to know where the remaining $11,000 has gone to. No one can find fault with the liberal appropriation, but reckless expenditure is not only an injury to the district, but a waste of money for the province.

The party who robbed Wm. Tree and Geo. Libet at the Elk hotel has not yet been captured. The police department should take a hand in the matter, as Messrs. Tree and Libet are hard working men and their property should be reclaimed if possible. The guilty party is supposed to be yet at Comox and a little detective work would make a strong case against him.

The Union hospital board held a meeting Friday night. Work had been stopped for lack of funds. The board made arrangements to borrow money from the doctor's committee and the building will now be completed.

Alex. Garvin was at Comox this week on business in connection with his mineral springs. Arrangements are being made to build a hotel. The spring is said to be a good one and a hotel there is sure to pay.

F. Upton, who at one time was head of the Upton line of steamers, was up here on business and returns to Victoria on the Joan. He has just come from Japan on the Empress of India. For seventeen years he has been in the employ of the Japanese Government as interpreter. He reports things quiet in Japan at present, but says times will be lively when Parliament meets there, as there is a strong opposition to the present administration. Japan is practically a free trade nation, and the revenue is almost entirely raised by direct taxation. Mr. Upton states that this is for the benefit of the consumer, and that the manufacturers, of whom there are a great number, do not feel the effects of outside competion. Your correspondent questioned him regarding Edwin Arnold's conduct there. Mr. Upton shrugged his shoulders. "Why," said he, "it is a well-known fact that Edwin Arnold was no saint in Japan." Mr. Upton also gives interesting information regarding the recent earthquake in Japan. From observation it has been ascertained that the earthquake travels in waves on the surface of the earth, and its effects are harmless 14 feet below the surface. As an illustration, Professor John Milne, of the Tokio University, had an excavation 14 feet deep made for the university building. The building is situated in the centre of the excavation and was not injured by the last earthquake. He compares the earthquake to the waves of the sea. When the top of the earthquake wave strikes a building in the trough it is little injured. Mr. Upton returns to Japan by the next Empress.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 3.—During the past week Washington City has been treated to a series of "booms." They have generally occurred in the evening and have had sufficient force to set the crockery vibrating on all the shelves throughout the city. These heavy detonations have proceeded from rain-making experiments of the department of agriculture, which has been encamped at Fort Meyer, Va., just up the Potomac river from here. NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—One of the largest meetings of the Irish-American Republicans ever held in this city occurred to-night at Cooper Union. The large hall was filled to its utmost capacity with an enthusiastic crowd, who cheered the names of Harrison and Blaine to the echo. The speakers of the evening were Patrick Egan, John J. Finerty, of Chicago, and John Brennan, of Iowa. In thanking the assembly for its cheering welcome when he appeared, ex-Minister Egan said the reason that he had been singled out by the un-American Mugwamps and by the pro-British section of the press and used as the butt for all their bile and venom was to conjure up some ground of attack on those of the Irish race who would not tamely bend their necks to the yoke of the Democratic party. A set of resolutions was adopted, which, after pledging earnest support to Messrs. Harrison and Reid, appealed to the Irish-American citizens throughout the Union to assist in preserving this nation from the accursed system that had reduced Ireland to pauperism, repelled with indignation the lying pretence of the Democratic party to "own" or to "control" the Irish vote. They repudiate Wayne McVeagh as a renegade from his party and race; commend the present administration for its action in behalf of the Irish political prisoners, and reiterated their confidence in the Hon. Patrick Egan, at the same time thanking the President for his support of the latter.

Slippery Dave's Philosophy.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Senator Hill addressed an immense meeting here yesterday afternoon. He said in part: It is not such a long time ago that we used to hear so much about the Tammany tiger from the Republicans. Now it's all wild-cats. They are always going around with great fear on their shoulders. The possibility of something dreadful that we Democrats may do disturbs them to the uttermost, and that is one of the Republican tricks to scare people who don't know any better than to be scared. In 1884 they went crying about that if the Democratic party got the presidency the country would wither up under a succession of fearful calamities. Instead, we had one of the best administrations of the government in the history of the country. Mr. Hill eulogized ex Bresident Cleveland's administration in the highest terms. From Canandaigua to Syracuse Senator Hill was received at every station with rousing cheers. At Alhambra rink, in Syracuse Hill, he addressed a multitude. He said it was not a campaign of candidates, but one of principles, and continued: "Do your duty like true Democrats and when next Tuesday is over we will have this state and a good old-fashioned Democratic victory for Cleveland and Stevenson. Only remember, this is no time for grievances. If you have any this time do not show them. If I had any I should not shew them now."

Interesting Facts For the Consideration of All Canadians!

Brockville, famed for its beautiful situation on the grand and mighty St. Lawrence, enjoys a well-earned reputation as a summer resort.

Travellers seeking for rest and quiet from the hurry and bustle of large cities, and those wishing to get rid of the corroding cares of life, can spend a season in Brockville or its environments with much profit and pleasure.

Chief amongst business men in Brockville, who have assisted in making the town a favorite resort for tourists, is Mr. Amos Robinson, the genial and kind-hearted proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hall.

Mr. Robinson has for many years catered successfully to American and Canadian visitors. His well-managed hotel enjoys a popularity for all true home comforts, and when once visited, it afterwards is remembered in a pleasant and kindly way.

Mr. Robinson, though a veteran in the business of hotel-keeping, does not remain idle and inactive. Although blessed with good and efficient help in every department, he is continually planning for the comfort of his guests, and ever anxious for their welfare.

When such work is well and efficiently performed it often means neglect of rest, sleep and proper physical exercise. Worry, bustle and over-work to the model hotel proprietor, often results in serious and distressing physical troubles.

The keen and progressive business man, unless he is very guarded and careful, will surely suffer from the effects of over-work of body and brain. The common ailments peculiar to such men are: general debility, dyspepsia, indigestion, sleeplessness, nervousness and headaches.

Mr. Robinson had the misfortune last spring to suffer some of the penalties which swiftly come to those who neglect the great principles of health and rest. He was reduced to a very feeble condition; his stomach and digestive organism refused to work properly.

This condition of health Mr. Robinson could not bear; matters assumed a serious aspect, and for a time the future looked gloomy and dark. The cloud of gloom, however, soon passed, and a bright silvery ray of light shone forth in great purity, disclosing the talismanic words, "Paine's Celery Compound."

Mr. Robinson had heard his friends speak of nature's great restorer; he had read of wonderful cures effected by it—indeed, some of his best friends had used it with grand results; and now the important question was: "Shall I use it in my present troubles and distresses?"

It did not take long to decide; Mr. Robinson had a strong faith in Paine's Celery Compound, and at once determined to test its curing powers. He was not disappointed; his recovery was quick and sure, and all his friends were agreeably surprised.

This wonderful and effective preparation will produce the same good work for you, suffering reader. It matters not how obstinate your case is, or how long you have been languishing and suffering. Do not despair if your doctor has pronounced your case as hopeless. We offer you a mightier and stronger hope than any physician can show. Hundreds have been rescued who were in a more desperate condition. Will you accept the offered medium of new life?

Read carefully Mr. Robinson's statements, and act with justice to yourself and family. Life is precious and delays are dangerous.

St. Lawrence Hall, Brockville, Ont., July 4th, 1892.

Messrs. Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal.

GENTLEMEN:—In the early spring months of the present year, I was reduced to a very feeble state of health from loss of appetite, consequent upon a run-down condition of general health.

Feeling the importance of taking active measures for recovery, I decided to try the much-talked-of remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. I am now pleased to inform you that by the faithful use of your Compound for a short time, I was wholly restored, as far as general health is concerned.

At present my stomach is in fine condition, my appetite good, and the taking of my regular meals is no longer a burden.

It gives me pleasure to speak so highly of Paine's Celery Compound, and to recommend it to all my friends,

Yours with respect,
A. ROBINSON.

In previous issues of this paper, it was announced that special arrangements had been made to supply the needs of all who were not in a position to procure Paine's Celery Compound.

In a quiet but effective way, the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound have spread joy and gladness in many homes, where disease and suffering once held sway.

Many a worthy man and woman who could not pay for medicine or the services of a physician, have been restored to new life and health through supplies of the Compound sent free by the proprietors. This work has given the manufacturers of Paine's Celery Compound more pleasure and satisfaction, than the shipping of a car load to some druggist in the Dominion.

No poor and worthy sufferer need be without this life-giving medicine. A letter from a Clergyman, Mayor, Reeve, Justice of the Peace or Postmaster, testifying to the character and standing of the applicant will be sufficient evidence to warrant a supply being sent on for the relief of the sufferer.

Address the Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal.

THE OKANAGAN COUNTRY.

Sayings and Doings in the fertile Northern District.

From the Vernon News.]

The number of ploughshares being sharpened at the blacksmith shops these days, is evidence of the work being engaged in these days by the ranchers.

Complaints are constantly being made at Vernon of papers disappearing in the mails. Parties who have been taking the London Illustrated, Graphic and other journals of that kind, say that it is a rare thing for them to receive a copy.

Both culprits in the Blane incest case at Okanagan Mission, have now cleared the country, the female offender going across the lines also. It is well that the district is rid of the necessity of prosecuting in a case which would give publicity to an affair that would disgrace both the district and province.

Messrs. Morgan, Morrison and White have returned from their quartz mine, which is situated out towards Kettle River. They were out nearly two months doing assessment work. They are encouraged by the work they have done. The ledge is now four feet and a half wide of free milling ore.

Hop-picking at Guisachan is done. The dry-kiln, improvised for the occasion from one of the old McDougall cabins, works very well. About half a ton of dry hops has been secured from seven acres. This speaks well for hop culture as this is the first season. The crop would have been larger too if the vines had been all trained up the poles.

The difficulty of maintaining the present wagon road from Penticton along the west side of Dog lake, owing to the sandy nature of the soil, has once more drawn the attention to the possibility of a road down the east side of the lake, which in years gone by was a favorite route for prospectors who mostly always chose it instead of the western route, and some maintain that it is the one that will ultimately have to be adopted.

The manner in which Camp McKinney is handicapped by lack of roads has been a serious drawback to the development of that property, and will continue to be until a road is made. This could easily be got by running the road from Dog lake through the Iukameep and from Camp McKinney continue it on to Rock creek and Kettle river. At Camp McKinney a large amount of ore is in sight, but nothing can be done until a road is made to get in machinery.

A rather curious circumstance was related to us by Mr. Anderson, the Agricultural Department statistician, which came under his notice in the lower country, and goes to show that the laws of natural history are not at all like those of the Medes and Persians, which "changeth not and are not changed." Down at Osoyoos, he was told that the wild geese, instead of having their nests on the ground, build them in the trees. This departure from the usual mode of procedure is said to be for the purpose of circumventing the coyotes, that have a particular liking for fresh wild goose eggs, and rob every nest they can find on the ground. Not having served a proper apprenticeship to the industry of nest-building in the tree tops, these geese, being evidently strongly inclined to utilitarian notions, take possession of the nests already constructed by hawks and other large fowl that build aleft. In these nests Mr. Kruger has found wild geese eggs, from which he has hatched broods of geese that have become domesticated.

Mercier's Acquittal.

QUEBEC, Nov. 4.—Judge Wurtele, in summing up in the Mercier-Pacaud case to-day, said there was no doubt that a Crown Minister was not amenable to the courts of his country for actions performed officially. It was the duty of the House to decide on these, but in the case of a Minister accused of defrauding the Treasury by ways and means outside of his ministry it was different. It remained for the jury to decide such a question. Mr. Fitzpatrick addressed the jury with the view to get the case dismissed by them before they were called upon to render a verdict. After being out some time the jury returned a verdict of "Not guilty." Messrs. Mercier and Pacaud immediately after their acquittal were surrounded by friends who were anxious to congratulate them. Several hundred spectators awaited Mercier and Pacaud at the court house door, and on their exit they were cheered to the echo. Mr. Mercier was then escorted through several streets, being carried on the shoulders of some of his sympathizers. Upon reaching the residence of Mr. Lemieux, one of his counsel, the ex-Premier addressed a large crowd, and was followed by several other well-known orators. A torchlight procession is being prepared for to-morrow evening, and Mr. Mercier will leave for Montreal on Sunday afternoon.

Charged With a Terrible Crime.

LIVERMORE, Cal., Nov. 4.—On Monday a girl, Rosa Goves, aged about 17, swore to a complaint charging her father, Leander Goves, with a terrible crime, herself and three sisters being victims. The accused on hearing of the charges came to town and surrendered himself to the custody of Constable Fitzgerald, who locked him up. He seems to be a very intelligent fellow, and is one of the school trustees of the district. He has a family of nine children, six of whom are girls, and an infant in his mother's arms.

Death of an Outlaw.

TAHOLQUAH, I. T., Nov. 5.—Ned Christie, the notorious outlaw, is dead. Late yesterday afternoon the police resorted to dynamite and succeeded in blowing down part of the house and setting fire to the ruins. While the blaze was at its fiercest Christie was seen to emerge from under the flames, run, but was ordered to halt. He did not stop and was riddled with bullets, killing him instantly and mutilating him terribly. The officers then turned their attention to the burning building and discovered another desperado, Charlie Hare, trying to escape. He was badly burned but was able to run. He was arrested. The body of Wolf, another of the gang, who had been wounded early in the morning, was burned to a crisp in the building. One month ago the officers attempted to make a prisoner of Christie, but were obliged to abandon the attempt not being acquainted with the place, but not until a policeman was killed and another crippled for life was a determined attempt made to effect his capture. During Christie's career of lawlessness he killed two deputy marshals, three Cherokee Indians, and has wounded three other deputies and over a dozen law abiding citizens. For the past few years he has lived in the fortified house where he met his death yesterday. He was about 40 years of age and was a perfect specimen of physical manhood. He possessed more than the ordinary amount of intelligence and before he became an outlaw was an experienced gunsmith.

Short Time For Voting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The time clause in the Australian ballot law, which requires the voter to complete the work of stamping his ballot within ten minutes, has caused considerable uneasiness among prospective voters. Every person who has practised preparing the municipal and general ballots knows that only experts can do the work within ten minutes. There is no likelihood, however, of the law being enforced for the simple reason that there is no provision in the code for any action to be taken in the event of persons occupying the booth more than ten minutes.

The Earthquake Festival.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Nov. 5.—The Charleston earthquake festival came to a close to-night with a magnificent pyrotechnic display, which was witnessed by sixty thousand people. The week has been an unusually bright one, and will long be remembered by the participants. The warships will probably remain here for several days.

"BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB."

TO THE EDITOR:—The institution of such a club in this city as the name above implies, means a great deal that is good and beneficial for young and growing cities. I was very much pleased indeed as an old man to see that there is a movement on foot to form such an organization. In all the cities in the east they have accomplished a great deal of really good work for the people, as also in the province.

The people in this city to my mind are very easy going, and the sooner they evince some more interest the better, or they will find themselves "behind in the race." A short time ago seeing something I considered rude and vulgar in a small weekly paper, which, by the way used to be thrown to my house grates last winter—anent the organization of a business man's club, which paper now presumes to criticize prominent and respectable business men in our fair city, causes me to enter in your columns an humble protest. I may say that although I have seen 60 summers, I am not jealous, and such mossback coercion I never saw in any sheet calling itself a paper.

I may say, however, that as soon as I hear of the meeting of this society, I will make it my business to be there. I have considerable property in this city, and am more than pleased to hear from the parties that are taking the matter up. They are young and enterprising and successful, every one of them, so far as I can find out, and I will have pleasure in giving them financial aid as well as my moral support.

Prize Postal Card Contest

To attract attention to MELVIN'S SURE HEADACHE CURE, and make its name a household word throughout Canada, we will give absolutely free, a first-class solid gold hunting case watch to the person sending us a postal card containing the following four words "Melvin's Sure Headache Cure" written on it (in a legible handwriting) the greatest number of times. To the one sending a postal card containing "Melvin's Sure Headache Cure," next to the greatest number of times will be given a handsome oak cabinet secretary. To the third, an elegant "Palm" stand in nickle or brass with silk plush top. Fourth, a beautiful large piano lamp (in brass) with shade, etc. Fifth, either a complete smoking set (in brass or silver) or a fine combination toilet case (in silver). Sixth, either a complete shaving outfit (in silver) or elaborate manicure set (silver) in costly case. Seventh, a lady's complete work box. Eighth, a silver Chatalaine watch. Ninth, a 12 yard black silk dress pattern of fine quality. Tenth, pair of coin silver chain bracelets with padlocks, and a large list of other good prizes.

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST.

Our prize postal card contest is free to any person in Canada. An ordinary small-size postal card is to be used with one half-inch at the bottom of card reserved for the name and post office address of the sender (which must be plainly written). At the bottom of card is also to be given the number of times you have been able to write the four words on the card. A free sample of MELVIN'S SURE HEADACHE CURE will be sent to the address of each contestant. No expense whatever is incurred in contesting for above prizes. Our object is to introduce this great headache conqueror. The prizes are good ones, and are on exhibition at our offices in London, Ont. They will be awarded by a disinterested committee, and the names of prize-winners published. Purchase a postal card for one cent; write "Melvin's Sure Headache Cure" on it as many times as possible, with your name and address thereon, and you will receive a free sample sufficient to cure one severe headache, and you have an equal opportunity with others of securing one of the above prizes without any charge whatever. Our prize postal card contest closes December 1st, 1892. In case of a tie, the one bearing earliest postmark will be given precedence. Address MIDDLESEX DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., London, Ont.

Mr. Weatherwet: "By Jove! but these Melissa Coats ARE the proper thing. You would scarcely believe I had been out all day in this blooming storm; and here I am, quite dry and jolly comfortable, don't you know."

Miss Drencher: "O, yes; I have worn my Melissa for more than a year, in all kinds of weather; and the beauty of it is, there is none of that clammy air-tight feeling about it, nor that horrid smell one gets from other waterproofs."

Mr. W.: "There seem to be several poor imitations of this Melissa Cloth on the market, so one has to be careful, you know, and always look for the Melissa Trade Mark on every garment or piece of cloth."

DOUGLAS STREET.

Now that the council has set about the work of opening the blind streets of the city, is there any reason why the extension of Douglas street should be deferred to the last? James Bay bridge is considered by the city engineer to be unsafe for heavy traffic, and it would, therefore, be an evidence of aldermanic foresight were a substitute to be provided against the day of its collapse. Douglas street could very easily be extended across the "mud flats" to connect with the streets on the south side of James Bay. The land to be expropriated is valuable, but fortunately very little will be required to reach the "mud flats," which belong to the city. Every property owner on Douglas street, as well as every business man, would be benefitted by the addition of another thoroughfare to the southern part of the city. Ald. Hall, as a representative of James Bay Ward, has in this matter another opportunity to distinguish himself.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CANDID FRIEND.

A few days ago the TIMES ventured the opinion that if the Government had not kept down the West Kootenay roads and bridges appropriation for for an unworthy purpose it "would have been able to help in a legitimate manner the Slocan miners and the people who bought New Denver and Nakusp town lots." The Vancouver World's moralizing over this remark is extremely edifying, and we here reproduce it for the benefit of the parties concerned:—

And it has come to this with the journal in question and its coterie, that because speculators secure a plot of ground and lay it out as a townsite and manage to sell a few lots, that the Government is to be compelled to open up its streets, lay sidewalks thereon, and construct roads leading therefrom in every direction no matter at what cost. We are of the opinion that the bulk of the people of the Province will think otherwise. The Government expended the sum of $5,000 in opening a trail between New Denver on Slocan Lake and Nakusp on Arrow lake, when it was problematical as to the benefit the expenditure was likely to confer upon the country. * * * * The sooner this business of townsite booming is run on its legitimate merits, without those interested attempting to injure the Government, which knows only too well for them what it is about, the better it will be for the speculators and the country generally.

Now the Provincial Government is the "speculator" who sold the New Denver town lots, profiting by the sale to the extent of $28,000. The owner of the Nakusp townsite was the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, whose receipts, we believe were even larger. All that either one of them has expended so far for the benefit of the purchasers is the $5000 spent by the Government in making a very indifferent trail between the two places. The World is no doubt correct in condemning these two parties for their methods of "townsite booming," and we hope they will give heed to the utterances of their Vancouver friend. There are certainly very few British Columbians who want to see the Government embarking in so questionable a business as selling town lots virtually on false pretences. The Canadian Pacific people, it seems, were ready to carry out their promises to some extent at least by joining the Government in the construction of a road. The Government, however, had no legislative authority to undertake such a work, though it apparently did not discover or did not see fit to make public this fact until after it had actually called for tenders for the construction of the road. The World is quite right; the Government's conduct in this matter is anything but creditable.

There is another matter connected with Slocan to which we hope the World will give the same candid consideration. If will perhaps remember that the Government reserved at Slocan Lake two tracts of land of a mile square each. One of these was at the mouth of Carpenter creek, and part of it is included in the town lots in New Denver, which the Government sold so profitably. The other reserve is at the head of the lake. Prior to the reservations being made there were applications sent into the Government's agency for the purchase of both these tracts under the old land law, which expired on the 30th September last. Early in September the Government withdrew the reserve from the New Denver tract, allowing the applicants to get the land under the terms of the old act. But the reserve at the head of the lake was not taken off, and the applicants for that land cannot now obtain it. Why should the Government have favored one set of applicants above the other? This course is surely not "meting out even-handed justice to all," which the Colonist alleges to be the aim of the Government, and it cannot commend itself to the World, since that organ has set its face so sternly against unworthy transactions in land.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

In spite of all the efforts made to avert the blow, the scheduling of Canada has been decided upon by the British Board of Agriculture, which means that after the 21st inst. no Canadian cattle will be allowed to go to British interior points alive, but must be slaughtered at the port of debarkation. This must prove a severe blow to the farmers of Canada. The trade in "store" cattle—that is, in animals which require fattening in the Old Country before they are fit for market—has become a very extensive one, and has of late years formed an important source of profit for eastern farmers. It was of even more importance to the farmers and ranchers of Manitoba and the Northwest, who would find it almost impossible to send cattle to the United Kingdom fit to be killed and marketed immediately upon arrival there. The withdrawal of the privilege of sending our store cattle to be fattened on Scottish or English farms will practically mean that many Canadian animals cannot be sent across at all; while it will seriously reduce the value of such as are in fairly good condition, since the dealers will not be able to choose their own time for marketing. If the embargo is kept on for even one season the loss to the farmers of Canada will mount up into the millions, so large has the trade become. The Canadian farmer is none too prosperous now, and it is hard to see how he is going to encounter this serious difficulty. From all that has been published on the subject the action of the Board of Agriculture appears unnecessarily strict, for the evidence has tended to show that there was no pleuro-pneumonia among the cattle landed at Dundee, but there may be some evidence the other way that has not been made public. However injurious to Canada this action of the British Board may be, the Canadian protectionist cannot logically find fault with it, since it must needs be a measure protective of the British farmer. If protection is a good thing in itself the exclusion of Canadian live stock from the English market must challenge the admiration of exclusionists everywhere. It is characteristic of the protectionist, though, to object to his own medicine being administered to himself; and the loudest complainers will most likely be found amongst those Northwest ranchers who, a short time ago, occupied exactly the same position that the British farmer occupies now. That is, they secured the exclusion of American cattle from British Columbia on the fraudulent plea that there was danger of cattle disease being imported, whereas there real object was to obtain a monopoly of the British Columbia market. There was no more danger of Washington, Oregon and California cattle bringing disease in here than there was of Canadian cattle taking it into Great Britain. The embargo placed on them was in fact a purely protectionist measure, just as is the embargo on Canadian cattle secured by the British farmer. Therefore it lies not in the mouth of the Northwest rancher to complain of the British Board's action.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Canadian Gazette draws attention to the fact that the present British Columbia cabinet is decidedly "English." The Hon. Forbes Geo. Vernon, it is true, was born in Ireland, but that, possibly, was an accident, for in everything else Mr. Vernon is an Englishman. Mr. Dewdney, the new Lieut.-Governor, it appears, is a Devonian. The Premier, Hon. Theo. Davie, is a native of the London suburb of Brixton; Mr. Turner was borne at Ipswich; Mr. Pooley was the son of Huntingdonshire parents, and himself owns Upwood as his birthplace; while the latest addition to the cabinet, Lieut.-Col. Baker, is the son of a Gloucestershire squire. The Gazette does not say that all the members of the ministry follow Mr. Pooley's example and wear knickerbockers at cabinet councils, but one may reasonably assume that the national costume is worn from purely patriotic motives by all of the ministers, excepting, perhaps, the premier, who might have a "constitutional" objection to the exposure. Seriously, however, we think the cabinet would be more representative of the people, although "English precedent" might not be so closely followed, were it leavened with a Canadian or two, or a Scotchman or an Irishman. As it now stands it is not cosmopolitan enough.

Mr. Chapleau in his famous Hochelaga speech hinted that if the Manitoba school question were not settled satisfactorily to his co-religionists in that province, it might be necessary to "discuss anew the terms of union." In other words he threatened to "smash confederation." The Empire has since been covertly "talking back" at Mr. Chapleau. In one issue it told him his talk was "silly, futile and unwise." In another it called him by implication "a sofa-cushion revolutionist." The Colonist, which very regularly takes its cue from the bigger organ, likens Mr. Chapleau to Bombastes. The Minister of Customs will do well if he survives all that.

B. C. CANNING COMPANY.

Annual General Meeting in London—Report of the Directors.

The Canadian Gazette (London, Eng.) says that the fourth annual meeting of this company was held on Monday at Winchester House, Old Broad street, Mr. J. H. Brodie presiding. The report of the directors was as follows:

The directors herewith present to the shareholders a balance sheet made up at the 31st May, 1892, and duly audited.

The net profits amount to £657 15s. 4d., which, together with the balance of £1063 15s. 3d. brought forward from last year, and adding £1500 transferred from the reserve fund, give a total of £3221 10s. 7d. available for the year's dividends. Of this sum the dividend on the preference shares to the 30th November, 1891, and an interim dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on the ordinary shares, paid on the 1st February last, absorb £1064 10s. 1d.; and the directors now recommend that the dividend on the preference shares be paid up to the 31st May, leaving £57 0s. 6d. to be carried forward.

These results compare unfavorably with those of the previous year, and are chiefly due to the increased cost of packing consequent upon a smaller catch being secured, the low selling prices which have ruled owing to an excessive supply from Alaska, and to an exceptional amount of damage to one of the company's shipments, which occurred in passage to this country.

The company's total pack was 9831 cases less than in the previous year, and though the aggregate catch of the province showed a relatively larger shrinkage, which reduced shipments to this country from that quarter, this was more than counterbalanced by the very large supplies from Alaska, which prevented any recovery in prices taking place.

The directors are pleased to be able to remark here that the Alaska packers have this season made arrangements to very materially reduce their production.

The improvements and additions to property pointed to in the last report have been duly carried out, comprising the pre-emption of timber lands and the purchase of a small property on the Rivers Inlet. The cost of these, together with additional steamers, new machinery for increasing the capacity of the sawmills, expenditure on a new wharf at the Naas River Cannery, further plant at the Naas and Fraser River fisheries, and a new building at the Windsor Cannery, amount to a total of £2002 16s. 6d.

Mr. P. Strickland retires from the board by rotation, and, being eligible, offers himself for re-election. Messrs. Josolyne, Miles and Blow also offer themselves for re-election as auditors for the ensuing year.

B. C. MESS, Secretary.

The chairman having explained the business of the year, moved: "That the report of the directors and statement of accounts presented to this meeting be, and the same are hereby received, approved and adopted, and that the dividend recommended, at the rate of 8 per cent. on the preference shares for the six months ended May 31st last, be, and the same is hereby declared." Mr. P. Strickland seconded the motion, which was carried.

The chairman next proposed the re-election of Mr. Strickland as a director of the company, which was seconded by Mr. A. G. Kendall.

Two New Lodges of the A.O.U.W. to be Organized Next Week by Grand Lodge Officers.

Improvements Being Made at Foresters' Hall—Winter Entertainments.

This week has been a busy one in A.O.U.W. circles, and the coming week promises to be even livelier. Grand Master Leiser has just returned from Vancouver, where he officially visited the two lodges of that city. One of the lodges installed three members, and the other one member. Mr. Leiser will go to Wellington on Wednesday next to organize a new lodge at that place, and a few days later a new lodge will be organized at Vernon with twenty charter members.

A Degree of Honor is to be organized in connection with the A.O.U.W. lodges of Victoria, and it is possible that one will also be organized at Vancouver. Mrs. K. Wilson, of Seattle, is coming over for the purpose of organizing the degrees. The Degree of Honor is for lady relatives of Workmen over 16 years of age. The fees are $1 for entrance and 25 cents a month. When there are ten degrees in the province the ladies will be entitled to a grand lodge, and will then have a beneficiary fund, $1000 being the amount given to the relatives of any deceased member.

Mr. G. Phillips, a prominent member of Dominion Lodge, I.O.O.F., returned a few days ago from Vancouver and New Westminster, where he visited the lodges. At New Westminster the Odd Fellows have just settled in their new hall, which is a large and comfortable one. At Vancouver Mount Pleasant Lodge has just completed a small but cosy hall. There is talk of establishing a canton in connection with the Vancouver and New Westminster lodges.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian society was held last evening when the following officers were elected: President, George Bishop; vice-president, Geo. Walker; second vice president, John Collart; secretary, E. C. Smith; assistant secretary, R. F. Finlayson; treasurer, Duncan Stewart; physician, Dr. Renwick; wardens, Jas. Colquhoun and G. Webb; bard, Jas. Dean; directors, R. P. Rithet, A. B. Gray, H. W. Sheppard, John Robertson, H. D. Helmcken, R. Mitchell and Donald McKay. A committee was appointed to arrange for the annual banquet to be held on St. Andrew's Day, November 30th.

The members of the local courts A.O.F., are arranging for winter amusements. A smoking concert is to be held under the auspices of Court Northern Light, and the members of Court Vancouver will entertain their friends with a dance. Dates have not yet been arranged.

The Juvenile Foresters are increasing in number at every meeting

Some improvements are to be made in the Foresters' Hall on Government street. Several partitions are to be removed, which will enlarge the hall considerably. A library is also to be maintained by the lodges.

The members of the C.O.O.F., M.U., will attend the First Presbyterian church to-morrow morning.

Officers of Pride of the Ridge Lodge, I.O.G.T., will be installed at a meeting to be held in Odd Fellows Hall, Spring Ridge, on Monday evening.

Dominion Lodge, No. 4, I.O.O.F., last evening paid a fraternal visit to Acme Lodge. A very pleasant evening was spent. Next Friday Acme Lodge will celebrate its first anniversary with an open meeting.

At last evening's meeting of Loyal Waverly Lodge, C.O.O.F., M.U., the following officers were installed: Bro. J. Grant, N.G.; Bro. A. Emery, V.G.; Bro. H. Smith, secretary-treasurer; Bro. G. Crowther, W.; Bro. J. Burrows, R.S.N.G.; Bro. J. McCorkall, O.G. The lodge will in the future meet on the first and third Thursdays in the month.

WHARF AND WAVE.

Jottings of Interest to Marine Men Concisely Compiled.

The ship J. B. Brown has been towed from Nanaimo to Tacoma to go on the dry dock for temporary repairs.

The steamer Cutch has been placed in the DeLion dry dock at Tacoma for a general over-hauling. It was her first trip to the Sound.

The revenue cutter Thomas Corwin will leave Behring Sea for San Francisco on November 10. The Bear and Adams will remain there until December 1.

The steamship Mexico will not make the next trip to Alaska. The Pacific coast Steamship Co. has substituted the steamer Yaquina. It is presumed that the latter will fill the scheduled time of the former.

November the Fifth.

Had the Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland met this day 277 years ago, and had a certain noble member of that august body not entertained suspicions only too well founded, of some dark thing impending against the peace and comfort of the assembly, this day, November 5th, would have gone down "to the last syllable of recorded time," as one of the blackest in the history of the human race. But "Guy Fawkes" is passing out of recollection, and people generally do not pay much attention to his day.

Their New Pastor.

Rev. J. E. Coombes has arrived in the city from La Conner, Washington, and will occupy the pulpit of Calvary Baptist church for the first time tomorrow as regular pastor of the church. He is an eloquent man, already endeared to the congregation, and the first service will undoubtedly be very interesting. A large attendance is looked for.

Hamlet by Local Talent.

The performance of Hamlet by Messrs. Marmaduke Wood and Coburn Thompson, of which the TIMES made mention last evening, appears to be an assured thing. The two gentlemen named above will meet Mr. McDonald this afternoon and sign a contract to give the piece in the Victoria Theatre on November 19.

California Wines lead all others for purity. Cal. Wine Co., Nos. 55 and 57 Broad St.

Drink California Wine. Cal. Wine Co., Nos. 55 and 57 Broad St.

Will Practice Law Here.

Mr. Denis Murphy, of La Hache, and a graduate of Ottawa University, will enter the law office of Mr. S. Perry Mills.

Sunday Evening.

Mrs. C. Mayo-Steers will give a lecture and other spiritual phenomena at 53 Vancouver street, this Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Seriously Ill.

Mr. Willis Bond, a pioneer of the province and one of Victoria's widest known citizens, is seriously ill. It is generally hoped that he may speedily recover.

To be Tried at Nanaimo.

Police Officer Henter leaves for Nanaimo to-morrow with Joe, who was committed for trial for sheep stealing. Joe will come up for trial at the Nanaimo fall assizes.

Y.M.C.A. Concert.

The members of the Y.M.C.A. have secured the Victoria Theatre for the 23rd instant, on which date they intend to hold a grand concert. A long and interesting programme is being prepared for the occasion.

The Iona's Case.

The owners of the little steamer Iona will be charged in the provincial police court on Monday with conveying passengers without a license. The Iona made a trip down the straits with about 50 Chinese passengers.

Coal at $5.50 for Cash.

Rattray, in his new office at No. 42 Johnson street, in the new Turner building, opposite Gilmore & McCandless', is selling the best doubled screened Wellington coal; weight guaranteed, 2000 pounds to the ton, for cash only. *

On San Francisco Bar.

The steam wrecker Whitelaw, which left here some time ago, is engaged at present in stripping the wreck of the ship Joseph S. Spinney, which went down on the San Francisco bar. The work is being directed by Capt. Whitelaw's son. After the wreck is stripped it will be blown up.

The Music Was Excellent.

The music furnished during the Roman Catholic ladies' bazaar, which closed last evening was very highly enjoyed. Especially was this the case with the excellent performances on the harp by Miss Hayward and Miss Styles. Their efforts to please were very much appreciated by all.

The Dog Biting Case.

The Chan Choo dog-biting case has at last got into the courts. Lawyer S. Perry Mills took out an information against Mrs. Shaw, charging her with maliciously wounding. The dog did the wounding, but as the canine might very probably resent any attempt at service of legal papers, the documents will be handed the bow-wow's mistress.

Paid His Fine.

Charley, the Saanich Indian, who was fined $150 and $17 costs for making intoxicating liquor out of plum juice, and supplying it to other Indians, this morning paid his fine. Charley is a "hyas tyhee" of the tribe, and his time is too valuable to waste in jail. His wife, therefore, sold a couple of horses and paid Charley's fine.

Contradictory Evidence.

In the County Court yesterday Mong Chow sued On Gow for $103, balance of money lent and interest. Several celestials were put in the box. The evidence was contradictory. On Gow's witness swore that the money had been paid back. Mong Chow's certified the contrary. The court did the wisest thing under the circumstances,—dismissed the case.

Soured the Beer.

Chas. Zoelle sued Carter & Tolmie for $299 for wages and money lent. Carter & Tolmie replied by demanding $1000 for 1400 gallons of beer which Zoelle is said to have soured. The court gave judgment for Zoelle on the grounds that after the alleged souring of the beer Carter & Tolmie paid money to Zoelle. S. Perry Mills appeared for plaintiff, Mr. Barker for defendant.

Special Musical Attraction.

A special musical programme will be rendered at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral at Sunday high mass. Lejeal's third mass will be sung. The Credo, Sanctus and Benedictus will be from Millard. At the offertory the Cujus Animam of Rossini's famed Stabat Mater will be given by Mr. A. Werner. It is also probable that Mr. J. Hawthorne, a basso singer of great ability, recently from San Francisco, will also sing.

Thanks, Ladies, Thanks.

To Extend View Street.

Ald. McKillican has renewed his efforts to have View street widened from the Heywood's estate property to the school reserve. He has given notice that at the next meeting of the council he will ask leave to introduce a by-law for the extension of View street from the north-east corner of lot 1086, thence easterly across the north end of block 10, Spring Ridge, and easterly across the north end of block 9, Spring Ridge, and also across the north end of lot 6, block 8, Spring Ridge, to Ormond street, and to make the same 60 feet wide. The work to be done under the local improvement by-law.

RUNNING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

The Electric Tramway Company Considerably Hampered in Their Work

If some of the people who wonder why the tram service is a little irregular at present would visit the powerhouse of the line they would change their opinions and begin to wonder why the cars are running at all. A TIMES man paid a visit to the power-house this morning and was shown through by Mr. A. C. Ewart, clerk of the works. The gangs of men, one engaged in construction and the other in operating the plant, are at work on the half completed structure, and everything is topsy turvy. There is not confusion exactly, but everything indicates disarrangement. It is wonderful that the line and lighting department have been running at all since the fire. There should be no complaints. The roof of the building was only completed to-day.

Heretofore temporary roofs have protected the engines and boilers, and coverings of waterproof the delicate electrical machines. These coverings were all right for the rain, but could not cope with the fog and dampness, which at times worked sad havoc with the machinery. The former was directly responsible for one of the worst breaks of the last few days.

The new building is admirably suited for the purposes to which it is to be put. It is 110 feet square with a ceiling of 24 feet in the operating department. A smoke stack 125 feet from the base, the second highest on the coast, rises far above it. It is capable of disposing of the smoke from a dozen furnaces. It is 13 feet 4 inches square at the base and 9 feet 6 inches at the top. Cement mortar, and hard and fire brick were used in the stack. It is massive in its construction. The roof of the building is covered with paper sheeting, then heavily tarred and last covered with a good layer of gravel. Thus precaution against fire and water is assured.

The arrangements of the operating department could not be better. To the rear, isolated from the building by a brick wall, is the fire room, with a convenient dump from the rear sidewalk for coal. Then to the front are the engine rooms and dynamo rooms for power and light. The floor is to be of solid concrete, which is another of the many precautions taken against fire. To the front and even with the street are the offices and waiting room. The main entrance is large and the rooms open off each other. There are five large rooms and a fire-proof vault. The building will look well from an architectural standpoint, but the chief aim of Architect Teague was that the arrangement of the building should be as near perfect as possible.

An improvement over the old system which makes a vast change in operating expense has been made. A tunnel 380 feet through the solid rock has been run to the bay. Through this cold water is pumped to the service condenser, where the steam is met and sent back to the boiler as hot water. The salt water then from the front of the building finds its way back to the bay. This effects a saving of 40 per cent of fuel and a greater one proportionately in water. The tunnel will also be used for a drain.

The building is well lighted by two great skylights, each about 40 feet long. The building will be heated with steam. J. W. Carter, the contractor, is carrying work ahead with all possible speed. From now on the work will be almost entirely on the interior, and there is much to do.

An addition has been made to the car house. It will be used as a boiler room for furnishing steam to the car house, and also as a factory for certain electrical work.

Do you want any jewellery, silverware or clocks? If so call on Kingham & Minor, at 49 Government street. They are making big reductions in their stock.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

Another Attempt to Burn a Residence on Frederick Street.

At 11:30 last night W. J. McKeon met a man running down Frederick street, and stopped him with the remark that smoke was issuing from No. 23, a one-story frame building. The stranger replied that it was fog. He then ran down the street. Mr. McKeon thought he would investigate, with the result that he telephoned the fire halls. In the meantime box 54 was turned in, and the chemical engine kept the fire in check until a line of hose, eleven hundred feet long, was stretched from North Park street. The firemen appeared to be working at a great disadvantage and the high wind made things lively for them until the chemical engine was re-charged. The loss on building and furniture will amount to about $300. After the fire was extinguished Chief Deasy found another fire smouldering in a clothes closet, and beside it was a can containing coal oil. Shavings and paper were burning in the closet and the woodwork was saturated with oil. In another room a table was found covered with newspapers saturated with oil, and a smouldering fire was discovered in the corner of another room. The most damage was done in the bathroom and pantry, where it appears that the firebug removed the wainscoting to give the fire a chance to reach the roof. All the doors and windows were locked when the firemen reached the building. The owner of the building, Mr. Le Point, is in Ellensburg, and E. Jones, owner of the furniture, states that the building was unoccupied for two or three days. The last tenant moved to a farm. The building was insured for $1500 and the furniture for $1000. It is probable that an investigation will be held.

REAL ESTATE MEN.

TO THE EDITOR.—In your account of an action brought against a certain real estate agent, at the instance of two of his clients, it is suggested that the action in dispute, which appears to have been of a doubtful character, was a fair sample of "the ways of real estate men." The reflection contained in that statement affects, as you know, an influential portion of the business community. It is, I will admit, a slur not infrequently or uncommonly indulged in, but, as a matter of fact, by whom? Generally by ignorant persons who never dealt with a respectable real estate firm in their lives, and who think they can avoid commissions or legitimate expenses by patronizing curb stone brokers—the latter in nine cases out of ten is some rover attracted away temporarily from some other calling by the activity of the land market. The same class of simple people the world over, who, withal, are wise in their conceit, furnish victims for the "green goods" man, and the other professional frauds who live in large business communities. Recent experiences in our city attest to the truth of this. In conclusion, I might illustrate very briefly how unjust it would be to condemn a whole class for the acts of an individual. Not long ago I stood in our courts and saw several criminals brought to the prisoners' dock, tried, found guilty and sentenced to long imprisonment, and this was accomplished largely through the efforts of the prosecuting attorney, whose social and professional standing was much increased thereby. It transpired, however, shortly afterwards that the prosecuting attorney way the biggest rascal of the lot, but I never have heard any one claim that his crimes were a fair sample of the ways of the members of his profession.

DRAWING LESSONS FROM NATURE.

The Birds, Warned by Divine Instinct, Annually Journey North and South.

But Man, In the Pride of His Intellect, Often Disregards Repeated Warnings.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 30.—The flutter of bright colored leaves which every wind blows from the trees in the avenues around the Tabernacle reminded the thousands who entered its doors this morning that winter is approaching. Dr. Talmage, with his usual tact, turned the impression to account in his sermon, which was on the text, Jeremiah viii, 7, "The stork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, and the swallow observe the time of their coming; but my people know not the judgment of the Lord."

When God would set fast a beautiful thought he plants it in a tree. When he would put it afloat he fashions it into a fish. When he would have it glide the air he molds it into a bird. My text speaks of four birds of beautiful instinct—the stork, of such strong affection that it is allowed familiarly to come, in Holland and Germany, and build its nest over the doorway; the sweet dispositioned turtledove, mingling in color white and black and brown and ashen and chestnut; the crane, with voice like the clang of a trumpet; the swallow, swift as a dart shot out of the bow of heaven, falling, mounting, skimming, sailing—four birds started by the prophet twenty-five centuries ago, yet flying on through the ages, with rousing truth under glossy wing and in the clutch of stout claw. I suppose it may have been this very season of the year—autumn—and the prophet out of doors, thinking of the impenitence of the people of his day, hears a great cry overhead.

THE PROPHETS OBSERVED NATURE.

Now you know it is no easy thing for one with ordinary delicacy of eyesight to look into the deep blue of the noonday heaven, but the prophet looks up, and there are flocks of storks and turtledoves and cranes and swallows drawn out in long lines for flight southward. As is their habit, the cranes had arranged themselves into two lines, making an angle—a wedge splitting the air with wild velocity—the old crane, with commanding call, bidding them onward, while the towns, and the cities, and the continents slid under them. The prophet, almost blinded from looking into the dazzling heavens, stoops down and begins to think how much superior the birds are in sagacity about their safety than men about theirs, and he puts his hand upon the pen and begins to write, "The stork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, and the swallow observe the time of their coming; but my people know not the judgment of the Lord."

If you were in the field today, in the clump of trees at the corner of the field you would see a convention of birds, noisy as the American congress the last night before adjournment, or as the English parliament when some unfortunate member proposes more economy in the queen's household—a convention of birds all talking at once, moving and passing resolutions on the subject of migration; some proposing to go tomorrow, some moving that they go today, some moving that they go to Brazil, some to Florida, some to the tablelands of Mexico, but all unanimous in the fact that they must go soon, for they have marching orders from the Lord, written on the first white sheet of the frost and in the pictorial of the changing leaves.

There is not a belted kingfisher, or a chaffinch, or a fire crested wren, or a plover, or a red legged partridge but expects to spend the winter at the south, for the apartments have already been ordered for them in South America or in Africa, and after thousands of miles of flight they will stop in the very tree where they spent last January. Farewell, bright plumage! Until spring weather, away! Fly on, great band of heavenly musicians! Strew the continents with music, and whether from northern fields, or Carolinian swamps, or Brazilian groves men see your wings or hear your voice, may they bethink themselves of the solemn words of the text, "The stork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, and the swallow observe the time of their coming; but my people know not the judgment of the Lord."

MAKING MUSIC AS THEY FLY.

I propose, so far as God may help me, this morning, carrying out the idea of the text, to show that the birds of the air have more sagacity than men. And I begin by particularizing and saying that they mingle music with their work. The most serious undertaking of a bird's life is this annual travel from the Hudson to the Amazon, from the Thames to the Nile. Naturalists tell us that they arrive there thin and weary and plumage ruffled, and yet they go singing all the way; the ground, the lower line of the music; the sky, the upper line of the music; themselves, the notes scattered up and down between.

I suppose their song gives elasticity to their wing and helps on with the journey, dwindling a thousand miles into four hundred. Would to God that we were as wise as they in mingling Christian song with our everyday work! I believe there is such a thing as taking the pitch of Christian devotion in the morning and keeping it all the day. I think we might take some of the dullest, heaviest, most disagreeable work of our life and set it to the tune of "Antioch" or "Mount Pisgah."

It is a good sign when you hear a workman whistle. It is a better sign when you hear him hum a roundelay. It is a still better sign when you hear him sing the words of Isaac Watts or Charles Wesley. A violin chorded and strung, if something accidentally strike it, makes music, and I suppose there is such a thing as having our hearts so attuned by divine grace that even the rough collisions of life will make a heavenly vibration. I do not believe that the power of Christian song has yet been fully tried. I believe that if you could roll the "Old Hundred" doxology through Wall street it would put an end to any financial disturbance! I believe that the discords, and the sorrows, and the sins of the world are to be swept out by heaven born hallelujahs.

Some one asked Haydn, the celebrated musician, why he always composed such cheerful music. "Why," he said, "I can't do otherwise. When I think of God my soul is so full of joy that the notes leap and dance from my pen." I wish we might all exalt melodiously before the Lord. With God for our Father and Christ for our Saviour, and heaven for our home, and angels for future companions, and eternity for a lifetime, we should strike all the notes of joy. Going through the wilderness of this world let us remember that we are on the way to the summery clime of heaven, and from the migratory populations flying through this autumnal air learn always to keep singing.

Children of the heavenly king,
As ye journey sweetly sing;
Sing your Saviour's worthy praise,
Glorious in his works and ways.

Ye are traveling home to God,
In the way your fathers trod;
They are happy now, and we
Soon their happiness shall see.

The church of God never will be a triumphant church until it becomes a singing church.

FAR ABOVE THE DANGERS OF EARTH.

I go further and remark that the birds of the air are wiser than we in the fact that in their migration they fly very high. During the summer, when they are in the fields, they often come within reach of the gun, but when they start for the annual flight southward they take their places midheaven and go straight as an arrow to the mark. The longest rifle that was ever brought to shoulder cannot reach them. Would to God that we were as wise as the stork and crane in our flight heavenward! We fly so low that we are within easy range of the world, the flesh and the devil. We are brought down by temptations that ought not to come within a mile of reaching us.

Oh, for some of the faith of George Muller, of England, and Alfred Cookman, once of the church militant, now of the church triumphant! So poor is the type of piety in the church of God now that men actually caricature the idea that there is any such thing as a higher life. Moles never did believe in eagles. But, my brethren, because we have not reached these heights ourselves, shall we deride the fact that there are any such heights?

A man was once talking to Brunel, the famous engineer, about the length of the railroad from London to Bristol. The engineer said: "It is not very great. We shall have after awhile a steamer running from England to New York." They laughed him to scorn, but we have gone so far now that we have ceased to laugh at anything as impossible for human achievement. Then, I ask, is anything impossible for the Lord? I do not believe that God exhausted all his grace in Paul and Latimer and Edward Payson. I believe there are higher points of Christian attainment to be reached in the future ages of the Christian world.

You tell me that Paul went up to the tiptop of the Alps of Christain attainment. Then I tell you that the stork and crane have found above the Alps plenty of room for free flying. We go out and we conquer our temptations by the grace of God and lie down. On the morrow those temptations rally themselves and attack us, and by the grace of God we defeat them again; but staying all the time in the old encampment we have the same old battles to fight over. Why not whip out our temptations, and then forward march, making one raid through the enemy's country, stopping not until we break ranks after the last victory?

Do, my brethren, let us have some novelty of combat at any rate by changing, by going on, by making advancement, trading off our stale prayers about sins we ought to have quit long ago, going on toward a higher state of Christian character, and routing out sins that we have never thought of yet. The fact is, if the church of God, if we, as individuals, made rapid advancement in the Christian life, these stereotyped prayers we have been making for ten or fifteen years would be as inappropriate to us as the shoes, and the hats, and the coats we wore ten or fifteen years ago. Oh, for a higher flight in the Christian life—the stork and the crane in their migration teaching us the lesson!

Dear Lord, and shall we ever live,
At this poor dying rate—
Our love so faint, so cold to thee,
And thine to us so great?

THE DANGER IN DELAY.

Again, I remark that the birds of the air are wiser than we, because they know when to start. If you should go out now and shout, "Stop, storks and cranes; don't be in a hurry!" they would say: "No, we cannot stop; last night we heard the roaring in the woods bidding us away, and the shrill flute of the north wind has sounded the retreat. We must go. We must go." So they gather themselves into companies, and turning not aside from storm or mountain top or shock of musketry, over land and sea, straight as an arrow to the mark, they go. And if you come out this morning with a sack of corn and throw it in the fields and try to get them to stop, they are so far up they would hardly see it. They are on their way south. You could not stop them.

Oh, that we were as wise about the best time to start for God and heaven! We say: "Wait until it is a little later in the season of mercy. Wait until some of these green leaves of hope are all dried up and have been scattered. Wait until next year." After awhile we start, and it is too late, and we perish in the way when God's wrath is kindled but a little. There are, you know, exceptional cases where birds have started too late, and in the morning you have found them dead on the snow. And there are those who have perished half way between the world and Christ. They waited until the last sickness, when the mind was gone, or they were on the express train going at forty miles an hour, and they came to the bridge and the "draw was up" and they went down. How long to repent and pray? Two seconds! Two seconds! To do the work of a lifetime and to prepare for the vast eternity in two seconds!

THE SOUL GETS ITS WARNING.

I was reading of an entertainment given in a king's court, and there were musicians there with elaborate pieces of music. After awhile Mozart came and began to play, and he had a blank piece of paper before him, and the king familiarly looked over his shoulder and said: "What are you playing? I see no music before you." And Mozart put his hand on his brow, as much as to say, "I am improvising." It was very well for him, but oh, my friends, we cannot extemporize heaven! If we do not get prepared in this world, we will never take part in the orchestral harmonies of the saved. Oh, that we were as wise as the crane and the stork, flying away, flying away from the tempest!

Some of you have felt the pinching frost of sin. You feel it today. You are not happy. I look into your faces, and I know you are not happy. There are voices within your soul that will not be silenced, telling you that you are sinners, and that without the pardon of God you are undone forever. What are you going to do, my friends, with the accumulated transgressions of this lifetime? Will you stand still and let the avalanche tumble over you? Oh, that you would go away into the warm heart of God's mercy! The southern grove, redolent with magnolia and cactus, never waited for northern flocks as God has waited for you, saying: "I have loved thee with an everlasting love. Come unto me, all ye who are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Another frost is bidding you away—it is the frost of sorrow. Where do you live now? "Oh," you say, "I have moved." Why did you move? You say, "I don't want as large a house now as formerly." Why do you not want as large a house? You say, "My family is not so large." Where have they gone? "To eternity." Your mind goes back through that last sickness, and through the almost supernatural effort to save life, and through those prayers that seemed unavailing, and through that kiss which received no response because the lips were lifeless, and I hear the bells tolling and I hear the hearts breaking—while I speak I hear them break. A heart! Another heart! Alone, alone, alone!

This world, which in your girlhood and boyhood was sunshine, is cold now, and oh, weary dove, you fly around this world as though you would like to stay, when the wind, and the frost, and the blackening clouds would bid you away into the heart of an all comforting God! Oh, I have noticed again and again what a botch this world makes of it when it tries to comfort a soul in trouble! It says, "Don't cry!" How can we help crying when the heart's treasures are scattered, and father is gone, and mother is gone, and companions are gone, and the child is gone, and everything seems gone?

It is no comfort to tell a man not to cry. The world comes up and says, "Oh, it is only the body of your loved one that you have put in the ground!" But there is no comfort in that. That body is precious. Shall we never put our hand in that hand again, and shall we never see that sweet face again? Away with your heartlessness, oh, world! But come, Jesus, and tell us that when the tears fall they fall into God's bottle; that the dear bodies of our loved ones shall rise radiant in the resurrection, and all the breakings down here shall be lifted up there, and "they shall hunger no more, neither thirst no more, neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat, for the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall lead them to living fountains of water, and God shall wipe all tears from their eyes.

THEY CALL THEIR OWN KIND.

You may have noticed that when the chaffinch, or the stork, or the crane starts on its migration it calls all those of its kind to come too. The tree tops are full of chirp and whistle and carol and the long roll call. The bird does not start off alone. It gathers all of its kind. Oh, that you might be as wise in this migration to heaven, and that you might gather all your families and your friends with you! I would that Hannah might take Samuel by the hand, and Abraham might take Isaac, and Hagar might take Ishmael.

Start for heaven yourself and take your children with you. Come thou and all thy house into the ark. Tell your little ones that there are realms of balm and sweetness for all those who fly in the right direction. Swifter than eagle's stroke put out for heaven. Like the crane or the stork, stop not night nor day until you find the right place for stopping.

Today the Saviour calls,
Ye wanderers come.
Oh, ye benighted souls,
Why longer roam?

The Spirit calls today,
Yield to his power.
Oh, grieve him not away,
'Tis mercy's hour!

Women of Sense.

This age has probably produced more vigorous minded and what is known as thinking women, than any other age in the world's history. This will in a measure account for the unprecedented large sales of the Rigby porous waterproof cloth for Ladies' cloaks and wraps.

To a thinking woman the predominant properties of this cloth are sufficient to effect a sale, viz. its porous and waterproof properties, while to the female mind irrespective of its vigor the beautiful designs which are being shown will produce the same effect.

In Rigby, health, comfort and elegance are the trio which have worked its success.

CLOSE OF THE BAZAAR

The Times Voted the Most Popular Paper in Victoria.

Eleven hundred dollars represents the rough financial result of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral bazaar. The bazaar was opened yesterday afternoon and evening. The attendance was good, the bad weather taken into consideration.

The young ladies with chances excelled themselves in the art of persuading the sterner sex that they wanted something which they did not require. Their winning ways had the desired effect, and the chance was taken.

The excitement of the evening was the newspaper contest. The supporters of the Colonist appeared convinced of victory. The last ballot but one showed the Colonist to be over 100 in the lead. This ballot was, Colonist 386, TIMES 271. But the TIMES also had lady friends who had been exerting themselves for the popular evening paper. They said nothing, but worked. A lighted taper was set up. When it burned down the ballot was closed. The ballot boxes were taken to a table on the platform and a representative of each paper was asked to tally the vote. The grand total was announced by the Rev. Father Van Nevel. The TIMES was away in the lead. The hall rung with cheers. The vote was: TIMES, 865; Colonist, 422.

The ladies had secured a magnificent victory for the evening paper. The counting of the ballot concluded the evening programme.

The Bishop's picture and the fine secretary have yet to be raffled. There are still several tickets left. They may be had from the ladies in charge of the bazaar.

The bazaar is regarded as a success, and the ladies deserve to be congratulated.

Norris's Great Dog Show.

Professor Norris, the "King of Kanines," was seen yesterday by a TIMES man.

"What kind of dog do you find the most tractable, professor?"

"Oh, just the little, ornery, yaller purp; the mongrel of much-involved descent. They are easier to manage than the pure bred animals, and really pick up the work with surprising quickness."

"Hard work, though, isn't it?"

"Well, I should remark. Long, slow, tedious work. It requires unlimited patience, and a firm, but gentle, temper."

"Ever get mad with them?"

"I've often felt like it, but it's no use; it only frightens and flurries them. My system is uniform kindness. The dogs soon begin to see they can't get out of it and they will then do the tricks."

"How long does it take you to get the dogs ready for public exhibition?"

"Well, it takes at least three years to prepare such a troupe as I've got. It has to be ground into 'em, you see. Becomes second nature. And then they have to be kept constantly in practice."

"I suppose the dogs have quite an affection for you?"

"Unbounded; they'd do anything for me. The esteem is mutual, too, I assure you."

"A case of love me love my dogs?"

"Zackly."

The Professor and his wonderful troupe gave a matinee performance this afternoon to a crowded house, and will show again this evening. It is a grand show and everybody should see it.

The Sportive Wind.

The southerly gale last night made the straits an interesting piece of water for several small sailing craft bound inwards, which had the misfortune to be caught. The wind did some damage in the city, blowing down several fences, signboards, outhouses and other small structures. Some of the yachting fraternity took advantage of the breeze this morning to have a spin to windward and back, which they reported as very enjoyable. The poor old San Pedro endured a hard battering from the large waves, and from Dallas road she was the centre of a turbulent mass of snow white foam and heaving green billows.

Life and Works of Burns.

This evening Miss Jean Howison will give an interesting entertainment upon the subject of the life and works of Robert Burns, in Sir William Wallace Hall at 8 o'clock. To all admirers of Scotia's great bard this will afford a fine opportunity for refreshing their memories and enjoying the choicest works of the poet recited by one who is acknowledged by the eastern press and critics to be first-class in that work. Miss Howison is an able and interesting elocutionist and deserves a good audience.

Smallpox in Seattle.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer of yesterday says: Two persons ill with what looked like smallpox were discovered Wednesday afternoon. A consultation of physicians was held immediately and the place put under quarantine restrictions, pending developments. On Thursday the suspected cases developed fully, and two more found in the same place. All were removed to the pest house, where there are now 10 cases under treatment in all the stages of the disease.

Unearned Increment.

John Brisben Walker, proprietor and editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, has sold to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company, for $200,000, a piece of land in Denver, Colo., for which he paid about ten years ago only $1,500. When Mr. Walker bought the territory, it was a detached piece of land in front of the city, with a river channel between it and the land laid out as streets. Mr. Walker built a causeway to connect his purchase with the mainland, which cost him something, but not very much.

Miss Jeffreys Lewis.

"Forget-me-not" will be produced by that talented actress, Jeffreys Lewis, next Monday night at the Victoria Theatre. Of the play the San Francisco Chronicle says:

"Stockwell's Theatre was packed last night to greet Miss Jeffreys Lewis and her splendid company in the drama 'Forget-me-not,' and the audience were more than pleased with both the play and the performers. The drama is in many respects like that of 'Camille,' but requires more versatility in the part of Stephanie de Mohrivart than that in any other emotional drama ever written, and sparkles throughout with a flow of sarcasm and repartee. Miss Lewis seems to have been made expressly for the part of Stephanie de Mohrivart, instead of the part for her, so aptly does she grasp at the intent of each particular, and gives it such vividness, as to stamp her as one of the greatest actresses on the American stage. The cold, calculating, and at times pathetic part of Stephanie brings out Miss Lewis's wonderful power. In the last scene, on escaping from the house of Verneys, where Stephanie passes through the room in which Baretto, her pursuer and the murderer of her husband, stands, Miss Lewis does a piece of acting that surpasses anything we have ever witnessed in all our theatre-going. The terrible fear depicted upon her countenance is so real that it makes one's hair actually stand on end. Harry Mainhall, in the role of Sir Horace Welby, did some very fine acting, and was frequently applauded." Belasco's famous "La Belle Russe" will be produced the second night of Jeffreys Lewis's engagement. "Geraldine" is her original creation, and considerable curiosity is felt to see her in this role.

Going Back to Alaska.

Father Althoff, who has been here attending the dedication of the new cathedral, will leave for his Alaska mission again on the next steamer, which will sail about Nov. 9. It will be some time before the reverend gentleman sees Victoria again. The only thing that worries him is the fact that he will have to leave before there is definite news of the election in the United States. He is a great admirer of Cleveland, and will not know the result until probably next year.

Puget Sound to Honolulu.

The citizens of Seattle and Tacoma are working in harmony on a scheme to get a steamship line to Honolulu established. Councilman J. W. Berry, of Tacoma, and W. C. Simpson, manager of the Puget Sound-Honolulu Steamship Company, are going to Honolulu to enlist support.

Appleby-Mesher.

Miss Tillie Mesher and Mr. Mortimer Appleby will be married next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in St. John's church. Invitations announcing the wedding are out.

Sample Chocolate Free.

A postal card addressed to C. Alfred Chouillou, Montreal, will secure you samples of Menier's delicious imported Chocolate, with directions for using.

A MOTHER'S OPINION.

"My baby girl was very sick during the past summer, and the doctor told us that it was almost impossible to save her.

"Diarrhœa had reduced her very much, and for days she lay in her cot helpless and weak. I fortunately read about your Lactated Food, and at once determined to try one can for baby.

"Two or three days after feeding it to baby, I noticed an improvement. She gained strength, and slept naturally. The food agreed with her stomach, and she seemed to like it.

"For a month, Lactated Food was the only nourishment I gave baby; and, to-day, I am happy to say that my baby girl is bright, strong and happy. I wish I could talk to every mother in Canada who has a sick infant; I am sure I could show them the advantages of your food."—FROM A MOTHER'S LETTER.

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCERS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL | THE SOUTH FIELD COAL

(Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes). (Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

House and Steam Coal) are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, high Illuminating power unequalled by any other bituminous Gas Coal in the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite, especially for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal; makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay where ships of the lagest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean Steamers.

MEASURING ELECTRICITY.

An Expert Talks About the Mysteries of Amperes, Ohms and Volts.

Herbert Laws Webb, in the Engineering Magazine for October, writes as follows: "Amperes, ohms and volts have almost become household words. In the newspapers they are to be seen every day, and since applied electricity has almost reached the prominence of a popular cult, the literary and semi-scientific journals handle the terms peculiar to the science with a seeming confidence in the ability of their readers to understand them that too often is misplaced. Very many intelligent persons have not yet had occasion to learn what amperes and ohms and volts mean to the electrical engineer and how he makes use of them. They are the fundamental electrical units, and a clear understanding of what they represent and their relations to each other is an indispensable preliminary to any enquiry into the fascinating subject of electrical measurements. The relations between the volt, the ohm and the ampere are fixed and immutable, and on these relations depend the remarkably accurate calculations and measurements that the workers in electrical science have evolved.

"The volt is the unit of electrical pressure, or as it is often called, electromotive force. The ordinary Daniell battery, containing zinc and copper elements in solutions of zinc and copper sulphate, gives an electrical pressure of one volt; in other words, the pressure available between the two poles of this type of galvanic cell was adopted as the unit of electrical pressure and was named a volt, after Volta, the renowned Italian physicist.

"The ohm is the unit of electrical resistance. All bodies offer a certain amount of resistance to the passage of an electric current. Those which offer a very high resistance are termed non-conductors or insulators, and those which offer a relatively low resistance are termed conductors. The insulators comprise such substances as glass, porcelain, vitreous and bituminous, India rubber, gutta percha, oils and gums. The best conductors are the metals; water and solutions of salts and the human body are fair conductors. In order that the resistance of different conductors might be measured or compared a standard or unit of resistance had to be determined. This was named the ohm in honor of the German scientist who gave to the world the laws of the electric circuit. A column of mercury a fraction over 106 centimeters long with a cross sectional area of one square millimeter has a resistance of one ohm. A copper wire of the same sectional area and having a resistance of one ohm would be about 60 times as long as the mercury column, as copper is a much better conductor than mercury. The copper wire generally used for telephone and telegraph lines has a resistance of a little over four ohms to the mile. An iron wire of the same size would have about six times the resistance, as iron is a much poorer conductor of electricity than copper. Iron wire is used as an electric conductor only for telegraph lines; its cheapness and strength recommend it for that work, but even for telegraph lines copper is replacing iron to a great extent. In the distribution of electricity on a large scale copper is used exclusively, as it is for the coils of almost all electrical machines and instruments.

"The ampere is the unit of current strength, and is so named from a French electrician. If a source of electricity having a pressure of one volt be connected to a circuit having a resistance of one ohm, the current that will flow in that circuit has the strength of one ampere. The ampere is derived from the volt and the ohm, and in order to produce amperes we must have volts acting upon ohms. A certain number of volts acting on a circuit containing a certain number of ohms must give a current of a certain number of amperes. If we have ten volts acting on one ohm we get ten amperes of current flowing in the circuit, and if we have one volt acting on one tenth of an ohm we get ten amperes, while if we have one hundred volts and ten ohms we get ten amperes. Wherever an ampere is needed a volt must be available for every ohm of resistance to force it through the circuit. Wherever a path is open to the current it will flow through the path in exact proportion to its resistance, and the strength of the pressure that drives it. Take for instance, an electric light circuit. The type of incandescent lamp in most general use requires a current of about half an ampere to heat the filament to incandescence. Consequently we see that the resistance of the lamp must be twice as many ohms as there are volts of pressure in the circuit. With 110 volts pressure a lamp having a resistance of 220 ohms will allow half an ampere of current to pass through it. If the pressure is allowed to diminish less than half an ampere of current will pass through the lamp, and the filament will grow dull; if the pressure is increased the flow of current will increase and the filament will get brighter. The flow of current, then, is dependent always on the pressure developed at the source of electricity and the resistance of the circuit to which that source is connected. There is one other important electrical unit which has been adopted of late years, since the distribution of electricity on a large scale for lighting and power has become so general, and that is the unit of electrical power. This is called the watt, and its value is the power developed by a current of one ampere at a pressure of one volt. In other words, one watt is an ampere multiplied by a volt. An incandescent lamp consumed half an ampere at a pressure of 110 volts takes 55 watts of electrical power. The watt is such a convenient expression that almost all expenditures of electrical power are now expressed in watts or in kilowatts. A kilowatt is one thousand watts, and is equivalent to about one and one-third mechanical horse-power. A dynamo is said to be of so many kilowatts capacity, and the kilowatt hour—that is, one thousand watts for one hour—is the standard unit of current supply in England, and serves as a basis on which current is charged to the consumer."

THE ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL GAME IN SAN FRANCISCO.

A correspondent of the TIMES in San Francisco writes:

A few young Scotchmen resident in San Francisco and lovers of the football game, met together recently and after some discussion decided to form a team to play the association game as it is played in Scotland. Hitherto in that city football has not been popular and the only game played was the Rugby. The association game is greatly more interesting and it was thought by the organizers of this new team, "The Scottish Thistle," as it has been named, that if two or three exhibitions of the association game were given to the public it would soon excite the public interest and make it ultimately one of the most popular games on the coast. A favorable opportunity presented on Columbus' day for introducing the sport to the public. A match was made between teams of the Scottish Thistle and the Pacific Wanderers and a very fine game was played on that day in Central Park. The Thistle team is a purely Scotch one and some of its members were well known in football circles in the west of Scotland. The Wanderers are for the most part Americans. Amongst those interested in the game much speculation existed as to the outcome of the game. The Scotch community put great faith in their representatives. On the other hand Americans as a rule were confident of victory for the American team. Both teams had been practising hard for a few weeks back, and when they appeared on the field they were in fine condition for a strong fight. In the first half of the game the Thistles had it very much their own way and took two goals. The second half was more exciting and more keenly contested, but the Wanderers were obliged again to strike their colors, having lost another goal. The game ended: Scottish Thistles, goals 3; Wanderers, goals 0.
